Real Christmas atmosphere with warmth, snow, lights and flashing stars Do you know where Jesus is this Christmas? Not in the manger or even the crib, for that matter, that's for sure. He's not in the house, either. He's not in the Church, or the school, or the library, or the supermarket, or the park. He's not in his bed. He's not even in his parents' arms. He's not even at home. Where is he? Sleeping in a cave somewhere, in the centre of the earth. That's where we all believe he is at Christmas. Why? Because that's what's in the Bible. A cave in a faraway land. But what about the manger? And the crib? What about Mary and Joseph? And that's what this Christmas screensaver will show you! A 12 feet long, computer-animated snowman But where do the white birch trees and the happy lights and the Christmas music come from? Where do they go? Where does the music come from? You see, it's almost like a story, a Christmas story. It's a little like the verse Christmas carols. You hear a few words, and then you hear the verse. But there's 3a67dffeec

===== The online homebrew game community. A new Project has been released, named Wheres the Beef??? Project Summary: This is a Project i was formed for the purpose of enabling the public to add a custom menu to the game using SNES-C. This custom menu is an extension of what you can do by using the menu from the stock ROM and what can be achieved using homebrew-screensavers/screensaver-apps. At the moment i am in the process of getting a ROM patched. The ROM i have on offer does not appear to have USB support. However i have found that it does appear to have access to the SNES-USB port. The ROM also features the ability to save games and to view some ROM files which i believe will be required to create the custom menu. Some Features: 1) Cheats and Custom Menu: Cheats can be added to the menu, including the ability to view the CEX cheat files. Custom Menu titles and selections are displayed in a list box so you can add as many as you wish, however i would recommend creating only 1 or 2. 2) Dynamic Screen Backgrounds: The Menu can be displayed in a wide variety of themes
